Howard Stein Hudson (HSH) provides planning and engineering services for municipalities, agencies, institutions, and owners. HSH takes a creative and collaborative approach with clients, relying on sound technical, planning, and engineering expertise, and combines it with knowledge of community/stakeholder issues and needs. HSH staff understands the often contrasting and complex needs of all parties involved in a project, and offers creative problem-solving and innovative options to build consensus.

We are more than engineering experts at HSH - we are the keystone of complex projects. Our tightly integrated relationships with clients and reviewing agencies ensure that sophisticated projects succeed swiftly and efficiently, no matter the scale, and our closely engaged, collaborative approach enables us to provide exceptional project delivery.
