What is your biggest piece of advice for women in transportation?

My biggest advice to someone in their career is to find the person you admire and respect and make sure you can learn as much as you possibly can from them.