Visionary Women: Champions of Transportation

What is your biggest piece of advice for women in transportation?

Not just in transportation but in everything, set goals. Setting goals will give you an opportunity to work towards those goals. Reach out to people to who can help. Let them know what you want and let them know where you want to go. WTS is a great resource for that and they’ve helped me through my career in setting goals and achieving goals and leading me to where I am now.
