Visionary Women: Champions of Transportation

What is your biggest piece of advice for women in transportation?

My advice for everyone in transportation is to keep showing up and come from a place of wanting to learn. Ask questions and go out in the field; you’ll be building your credibility that way and enhancing your expertise. I also encourage everyone to leap at the opportunities that come to you, even if you feel you are not ready.