

Karen Good is a Project Manager II at Denver Public Works. She has over 16 years of experience in the transportation and urban planning industry. Karen has managed a variety of transportation projects in Denver including planning, visioning and preliminary design for several major arterial corridors, a number of significant NEPA projects including City coordination for CDOT's I-70 East EIS and Federal Boulevard, as well as the Strategic Transportation Plan. Prior to coming to the City of Denver Karen worked with Winter & Company, a firm that specialized in design and development standards, historic preservation and zoning review.

Karen has been an active member of WTS since she first joined the Colorado Chapter in 2008. She has served in many positions with her local chapter board, including her current position of President, and was Fundraising Chair for the WTS Conference held in Denver in 2012. In addition Karen participated in WTS Leadership Program in 2013. Karen also serves on a number of other local boards in Colorado including the 14th St and Brighton GID District Advisory Boards and Denver Urban Gardens.