

Paige Wallace is currently serving as the Membership and Administrative Assistant at WTS International. She manages accounts receiving transactions for WTS international and Foundation and provides operational and administrative support for the WTS office and events. She is a liaison between members, chapter and staff and is responsible for updating membership records and responding to membership queries.

With a passion for political science and organizational empowerment, Paige attended American University graduating in 2016 with a bachelors in Political Science and a minor in finance. At American University she took her passions for social justice and women's issues and started We are Empowered, an organization which connected professional mentors for American University students of color in the Washington D.C. area. As founder in 2013, she recruited over 30 students and mentors to participate in the program. The program is still active at American University.

Prior to this position Paige served as a development assistant at the Archdiocese of Washington processing over 100 + financial transactions daily as apart of the Cardinal's Appeal project. Prior, Paige worked at Kid Power Inc, serving as a site associate and officer assistant. At Kid Power Paige developed curriculum, facilitated workshops and events for the educational programs that the organization offered for elementary and secondary school programs. As an office assistant reporting to the grant fundraising director she was in charge of parent relations through drafting emails, recruitment calls and organization of informational events.

Fun Facts:

Paige is a native New Yorker, attended Kings College London for 1 year of undergraduate and is the oldest of three girls.