

Rosa Chung
Operations Manager and Chief of Staff
WTS International

Rosa Chung is responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of WTS while serving as the primary liaison to internal and external stakeholders on behalf of the President and CEO.

Prior to this position, she worked as Administrative Manager for SSP, Inc., a NYC-based agricultural trading firm, providing leadership in business strategies and planning as well as in operations for the headquarters and several branch offices in major overseas locations. She successfully executed multiple projects to integrate technologies into operational processes and managed database and corporate library, established intranet and groupware, and shared best practices for the headquarters and virtual teams.

With a Master of Public Policy from McCourt School of Public Policy, Georgetown University, Ms. Chung held researcher positions with Harvard University, Georgetown University, think tanks, and law firms in Washington, D.C. Her research focused on domestic and international policy issues, ranging from higher education, to international trade and intellectual property rights, to women in the global economy. She also worked with congressional offices advocating for positions based on her research related to women's issues and has been working as a volunteer on campaigns and fundraising on the Hill for several years.
